

September 2016

To Whom It May Concern,

City University London joined the University of London Federation on 1st September 2016 to become one of its member colleges. On this date, City's new Supplemental Charter and Statutes as approved by the Privy Council came into effect. Degrees awarded after the 1st September 2016 bear the new name, "City, University of London".

As part of the University of London Federation, City continues to set its own entrance criteria and examinations, award its own degrees and offer independent services to students. City remains a chartered institution, autonomous and self-governing with its own Council, Senate and Students' Union and other bodies.

Degrees from City University London awarded prior to 1st September 2016 and degrees from City, University of London awarded after 1st September 2016 are equivalent.

Yours sincerely,

Dr William Jordan
College Secretary
City, University of London
